

A glossary is a list of words all to do with the same subject or topic and the definition of those words. All scientists learn new words as they do more and more exploring. List all the new words you come across through your curlew investigations here. Don't forget to add the definitions so you remember when to use them.

[illegible]